"The greater the ^{obstacle} ~~obstacle~~, the more glory in overcoming it" - once said Moliere. I would like to give my opinion and arguments on this quotation. (4)

I fully agree with this quotation, because all the problems we face only make us stronger and give us confidence. Moreover, I believe that after overcoming all the ~~obstacles~~ ^{obstacles} we gain rewards that worth our efforts. (10) (+) (35)

There is an example from Alexander Pushkin's novel "Captain's daughter" for the mentioned reasons. Pyotr Grinyov overcame a lot of obstacles. Due to his intelligence he managed to ~~save his life~~ avoid being killed by Pugachyov - a man who wanted to become ¹⁰⁰ Russian Emperor and was ready to do whatever it takes to achieve his goal. Pyotr faced a lot of problems, but they only made him stronger. After all, he gained the greatest reward - a loving wife and a happy family - this is his glory. (35) (+) (-)

Another example is the battle near the river Ugra. It happened in 1480 between Rus and Mongolian Empire. To that point, russians ^{had been} ~~depend~~ ^{ing} on Mongolian Empire for more than 300 years and gaining independence in this battle was a very significant achievement for Rus. (35) (+)

In conclusion, I believe that one should consider obstacles as challenges on their way to the goal and receiving glory. (210) (+)

ANSWER SHEET

Greetings, ladies and gentlemen, my name is Ulyana. I am a high school student, and today I will present you ~~my~~ ^{with} ~~humble~~ opinion on the French poet ~~and playwright~~ Molière's statement and provide ~~you~~ two good reasons to support it, as well as ~~some good~~ ^{two} examples to illustrate my claims.

"The greater the obstacle, the more glory in overcoming it" – this ~~understand~~ saying, ~~in short~~, indicates that one will experience more joy after putting a lot of effort in something they have been struggling to deal with for a long time depending on the difficulty of the task itself. I deem these words truthful, as I have ~~experienced~~ ^{had a similar experience} such feeling ~~dozens of times~~ in the past. Firstly, it is ^{is} ~~common~~ ^{obvious} knowledge that the higher one sets the ¹⁰⁰ goal, the harder it will be to achieve, so as long as the person has the motivation ~~and determination~~ to keep going, they will not only succeed in the end, but also feel the sense of accomplishment and ~~great~~ satisfaction. Secondly, one might also gain recognition and ~~fame~~ ¹⁵⁰ just for their goal alone if it is unique and extreme enough, ~~as boldness is highly rewarded in today's society~~, and even respect, and possibly ^{wealth} riches, if they actually succeed. Now, I will illustrate my reasons.

As ^{an} example, Napoleon, despite not taking over the Europe as he had planned, is remembered to this day, his achievements recognized and famous world-wide. As another example ¹⁰⁰ I will tell you about a Russian tale's "Buratino" character Buratino. The living wood managed to convince his 'father' to ¹²⁰ create him a body, which he then used to ~~make~~ ^{gain} connections and venture into the world with pure joy and excitement.

In conclusion, this statement, in my opinion, is always viable because, as Molière said, there is no doubt that there will always be a reward at the end of any trial.

23 "The greater the obstacle, the more glory in overcoming it" - once said Molière, French poet and playwright. But what does this saying mean?

47 In my opinion, Molière meant that the harder your goal to overcome, the more profit ^{and the more success} you will get overcoming it. ~~The bigger obstacle on your way, the more success you get after having it~~

103 Firstly, all ~~of~~ of the most successful man have become what they are through facing many big obstacles in their way and overcoming it. Everyone who reached a great success had made it through hard work. It can be proved with many historical examples. I will prove it with ~~of~~ the story of Donald Trump, current American president.

Donald Trump began his ~~start~~ ^{road} to success in early 1970-s. He became a millionaire in estate business. His success had been growing rapidly until 1990, when he faced big financial ~~and~~ business troubles, he was close to be a bankrupt. Then, in early 2000-s he ~~a~~ totally failed his political career. He overcame all this ~~obstacles~~ ^{obstacles} and grew. In 2016 he became a president of the US, for the first time, in 2024 for the second time. His story perfectly illustrates that ~~only~~ ^{you can overcome your problems and become successful.} facing great challenges ~~is the key to success.~~

191 Secondly, it is scientifically ~~proved~~ ^{proved} that facing a big stress (in this case while overcoming a great obstacle) ~~builds~~ builds a strong character. And your strong character is the main key for your success.

In conclusion, I totally agree with Molière. The great obstacles always help you to get power and glory.

ANSWER SHEET

To begin with, every day people all over the world face many obstacles and hardships. Many people are demotivated by them, ~~they~~ they lose the will to move forward if a problem seems too challenging for them. Conversely, there are people who ~~are excited by the~~ get excited when an opportunity to test their skills arrives, ~~they~~ they motivate themselves by thinking of every obstacle as a way to prove their worth.

Personally, I think that there should be a balance between challenging yourself and choosing the easy way out of a situation. If you challenge yourself too much, you may end up exhausting yourself quickly or even ~~getting~~ ~~an~~ injury. On the other hand, if you always choose to conserve your energy and avoid facing obstacles, you may end up losing your skills entirely.

To illustrate my point, I can say that from my own experience, when I participated in different olympiads years prior, I used to always overthink my answers to every problem, and ended up wasting a lot of time double-checking my answers. Now, I choose to take a different approach, trying to solve the problems I'm sure I can handle first instead of struggling with tasks I don't think are at my level ~~of~~ of skill.

In conclusion, I can say that while challenging yourself and honing your skills is important, it's also important to ~~be~~ get your own pace and rest ~~to~~ to avoid overworking yourself.

"The greater the obstacle, the more glory in overcoming it"

By saying this quote, ~~famous French poet~~ Molière meant that ~~lifespans~~ always about facing various challenges. ~~They happen to everyone with the~~ ~~exceptions.~~ Putting an effort to overcome any occurred troubles has numerous benefits, that's ~~why~~ why it's ~~so~~ essential to never give up on fighting for the best. 95
To my mind, overcoming major problems is a key for persons self-development and prosperity. 95

51
First of all, by trying to solve an issue in life individuals force themselves to leave their comfort zone. Consequently, this leads to that they acquire vital personal ~~quantities~~ qualities, such as independence and bravery, which appear to be crucial ~~with~~ ^{for} succeeding in modern world.
For instance, for a long time I always hesitated to go somewhere alone as I thought that others would think badly of me. However, I've overcome this challenge and now I feel ~~much stronger~~ more freedom. 128

128
First ~~of~~ Second of all, once put an end to a problem, more power and less fear in trying out something difficult are noticed. This influences the number of the opportunities people receive, as the more they try, the better life they have. For example, the author of Harry Potter struggled with publishing her works multiple times. Nevertheless, she made it, and now she considered to be one of the best ~~writers~~ ^{writers}. 199

291
In conclusion, I strongly believe that the outcomes of overcoming obstacles are invaluable. Fighting's hard, but without it life won't even improve. 4
